Capital Market Technologies (OTC:BB:CMKT) Signs Letter of Agreement with Better ATM Services

New Partnership Will Bring ATM-Dispensed Gift Cards, Premiums, and Incentives Technology to Europe

MESA, Ariz. and LONDON, U.K, April 22, 2008 --Capital Market Technologies (CMT) (OTC:BB:CMKT) has reached an agreement with Better ATM Services, Inc. to license the rights to distribute Better ATM Services' patented, groundbreaking technology throughout the European markets. Better ATM Services' breakthrough process enables existing automated teller machines to dispense gift cards and other pre-paid media, premiums, and incentives from ATM trays--just like cash.

Capital Market Technologies' CEO Jack Bouroudjian said, "The agreement with Better ATM Services' allows us to make another important step in providing unique solutions to the financial markets in the U.K. and Europe. The expected impact of Better ATM Services' technology on businesses ranging from banks to advertisers is quite exciting. This move brings a very useful and practical solution to the changing European payments environment."

Better ATM Services' CEO Todd Nuttall said this is another important step. "We are looking forward to working with CMT to guide our expansion into international markets. From initial reports, European customers are expected to rapidly embrace Better ATM Services' innovative ATM-based payment card dispensing technology. We anticipate some very creative applications of our technology developing from this relationship."

Better ATM Services' efficient and cost effective distribution option means banks, shopping malls, grocery stores, restaurants, independent service operators, advertisers, and any business can now offer prepaid gift cards and other prepaid media, premiums, and incentives through technology enabled ATM machines increasing profitability while offering consumers a new level of value-added service.
